Plugin for dual authentication

Hello everybody :)

I am new in this forum. I discovered phorum two days ago.
I searched in the forum a response but i found nothing interesting :(

I have a database which work with an intranet. I have many users and all of them have a login/password to login/logout on the intranet.

I would like to make a globale identification. It means that when a user login/logout on the intranet, the authentication will be created on "phorum".

How can I proceed to do that thing ?

Thanks for your responses.

There is information in the forums for sure. Starting points are "user_session_restore" (the hook that one can use to tell Phorum what user is logged in) and the external authentication module, which wraps around this hook (you can find it on the module list).

Thanks Maurice,

I found this module today. I will test it and use it in my application :)

Hope this will help me.

Thanks for your reactivity ;)

Bye.
