Not that many, even less perfectly working ones. There's one for phpBB at least.

Maybe if you tell for what forums you would like to have converters for?

Re: Converters
Well, if you're simply interested in reading code, you could check out this one. This is an upgrade script that I recently wrote for converting a web site's forum system (in house development, so this example is not fit for other conversions really) to the Phorum 5.2 system.

Next to that, there is of course the Phorum 3 to Phorum 5 conversion script that you can find in the scripts directory of the Phorum 5 releases. This is not an upgrade script, but it's really a conversion from one type of system to another.
