Easily Arrange Forums alphabetically or by drag and drop

Hello there!

I have a phorum installation that requires a large amount of organization via folders, and forums inside the folders representing geographical areas. As requests for new areas for forums come in, I have to add them to the folders. The problem is that there are a lot of existing forums in the folders, and arranging them in alphabetical order manually becomes quite tedious. Is there any way to make the process faster?

I just thought this might be a nice module/feature to work on if anyone was interested.

If you i.e. use a flat structure to display the forums on the index page they are ordered alphabetically by default. If you need to handle many items, check out the "Jump" module or implement a jQuery "Autocomplete" plugin where users can enter there zip code for example. Maybe you could send a link next time.
