A different kind of Wordpress Integration?

A different kind of Wordpress Integration?

Hi guys, i've had a search but can't find anything related to this specifically, only about logging in/registering...

If I have a wordpress website and phorum, is it possible to feed the latest posts in wordpress to the Phorum page, and then link to them in the forum, without going through and manually linking to them?

So for example:

News Headline!

News Story

Click here to discuss this on the forum...

The story is automatically posted to the forum in a different colour font etc to show it's a news item, and you can then discuss it in the forum?

Thanks in advance!

There is currently no code for that. It can be probably done with a module which needs to be developed though.
