

Bumblepuppy / February 19, 2002 07:33AM

Login Graphic

Hiya darlings...

OK I'm looking for the variable referenced by "<?php echo $TopNav; ?>", which generates the initial 'Login' link...

I've tried changing the 'Login' variables defined in a custom Lanuguage file that I've modified, yet this particular variable doesn't seem to set in that file...

Does anyone have any ideas...?

If you fancy a peek at what I'm up to:

[\[www.elysium-music.com\]](http://www.elysium-music.com)

Cheer!

Vulpes / February 20, 2002 06:06PM

Re: Login Graphic

<HTML>you can change all the graphics in the lang file.</HTML>

Anonymous User / May 28, 2003 01:35PM

Re: Login Graphic

My English.php language file appears to only contain definitions for variables of text/char based. How do you define images? With an tag within the value string?

Anonymous User / June 13, 2003 03:31AM

Re: Login Graphic

This worked for me...

Quote

```
<?php
$IAuthor = "Author";
$IAvailableForums = "Available galleries <img src=http://foo/test.gif>";
$IBack = "Back";
$IBigForum = "Forum";
...
```

best wishes, Robert
