-1 Replies.....Dec.31,1969

Hello, I've been running version 4.3.4 for several years with no problems until this weekend when the main page of the board suddenly changed all reply counts to -1 and the dates of all postings changed to December 31, 1969.

The expanded threads will not show up at all, but when opening the individual threads, the dates are correct. I'm not sure what to do about it. Anybody else out there have this happen over the weekend? Anybody have an idea what caused this?

Here's a link to it... Calls, Responses & Fieldhollars

Thanks for any help.

This could be everything, really. You should ask your host, maybe they upgraded some software component like php or mysql. We can't help you with that old version anymore.

Thanks Thomas. And my apologies for placing this in the wrong section. One more question, Is there any way to preserve the 80,000 posts on there and switch to the newer supported version of phorum without losing it all?

Sure, there is that phorum3to5convert.php script in the distribution.
