

Phorum Support Forums / Announcements

Public phorum commits mailinglist

Thomas Seifert / July 08, 2011 10:28AM

Public phorum commits mailinglist

Github doesn't seem to provide any options to get notifications about new commits in watched repositories and there is only one "service hook" which can send to exactly one email address.

And from the recent discussion in the forums there would be interest in a mail notification about new commits.

Therefore I've setup a mailinglist where you can subscribe if you are interested in the commits:

[\[mysnip-solutions.de\]](mailto:mysnip-solutions.de)

Have fun!

Thomas Seifert

Phorum Development Team / Mysnip-Solutions.de

Custom Phorum and general software development

worry-free Phorum Hosting

Edited 2 time(s). Last edit at 07/08/2011 10:58AM by Thomas Seifert.

rfc / July 08, 2011 11:46AM

Re: Public phorum commits mailinglist

But isn't that what [\[github.com\]](https://github.com) is for? It doesn't include the diff however (which most other mail notifications I know do).

Thomas Seifert / July 08, 2011 11:47AM

Re: Public phorum commits mailinglist

Its not an email ;).

Feel free to use the atom feed if you want to. The mailinglist opens just another way.

Thomas Seifert

Phorum Development Team / Mysnip-Solutions.de

Custom Phorum and general software development

worry-free Phorum Hosting
