Notification of a new message to all the posts

Hiya,

I am using Phorum 3.4.3a.

Just a quick question. Has anyone a modif that allows all the post owners of a thread to be notified if there is a new answer instead of only the user that the post replies to?

A bit like phpBB if you do not understand what I mean. Especially when you answer at the end of a view that is flat, a lot of people will answer just at the last post (i.e. at the end) without specifically replying to a message in the middle of the thread. However it may concern several people in the thread and maybe everybody is interested by the answer?

Could be cool to have that ...

Cheers

Cyril

Only people that request to be notified are notified now. You could mod the code in post_functions.php that mails people.
